Dear Sir/Madam,

I hope you don't mind the informality of this response. I will try to match the levels of informality and brevity.

I support requiring harassment training. I know lawyers who, while well intentioned, are awkward and/or insensitive to young women attorneys. Training will be very helpful for them. I hope I'm not among that group, but welcome the training.

I urge you to reconsider making it an annual requirement. After a year or two or three, it will become too routine, which will undermine its purpose. I suggest requiring the training periodically, perhaps every 3 years, but not annually.

Thank you for considering this suggestion.
